

Name _____

Date _____

Use Conjunctions and Prepositional Phrases to Combine

Sentence combining is the process of joining two or more sentences to create a single, more complex sentence. This can be achieved using coordinating conjunctions and prepositional phrases.

Example:

“The dog barked. It was near the tree.” → “The dog barked near the tree.”

Combine sentences and rewrite them using conjunctions and prepositional phrases.

1. She went to the park. She played soccer with her friends.

2. The kids played in the backyard. They built a fort with wooden planks.

3. John cleaned his room. He put his books on the shelf.

4. We walked along the beach. We watched the sunset over the ocean.

Name _____

Date _____

Use Conjunctions and Prepositional Phrases – Answer Key

Sentence combining is the process of joining two or more sentences to create a single, more complex sentence. This can be achieved using coordinating conjunctions and prepositional phrases.

Example:

“The dog barked. It was near the tree.” → “The dog barked near the tree.”

Combine sentences and rewrite them using conjunctions and prepositional phrases.

1. She went to the park. She played soccer with her friends.

She went to the park, and she played soccer with her friends.

2. The kids played in the backyard. They built a fort with wooden planks.

The kids played in the backyard, and they built a fort with wooden planks.

3. John cleaned his room. He put his books on the shelf.

John cleaned his room, and he put his books on the shelf.

4. We walked along the beach. We watched the sunset over the ocean.

We walked along the beach, and we watched the sunset over the ocean.