

Name _____

Date _____

Genre Influence

Genre features are clues that identify a text's type, such as fiction with characters and plot, nonfiction with facts and visuals, poetry with rhythm and imagery, and drama with dialogue and stage directions. These features explain a text's purpose and structure.

Read the short passage then answer the questions.

Read the two sentences:

1. In 1776, a young boy carried a secret letter to General Washington during the Revolutionary War.
2. A boy found a magic letter that glowed and opened a door to another world.

What is the main difference in the storytelling?

- A. The first story uses real historical events, while the second story uses magic and imagination.
- B. Both stories describe real history.
- C. Both stories are about war.
- D. The first story has more characters than the second.

Read this short passage:

Plastic bags harm the environment. We should stop using them and choose reusable bags instead.

What is the author's purpose?

- A. To entertain the reader with a funny story.
- B. To inform the reader about the history of plastic bags.
- C. To persuade the reader to stop using plastic bags.
- D. To describe how to make a plastic bag.

Name _____

Date _____

Genre Influence – Answer Key

Genre features are clues that identify a text's type, such as fiction with characters and plot, nonfiction with facts and visuals, poetry with rhythm and imagery, and drama with dialogue and stage directions. These features explain a text's purpose and structure.

Read the short passage then answer the questions.

Read the two sentences:

1. In 1776, a young boy carried a secret letter to General Washington during the Revolutionary War.
2. A boy found a magic letter that glowed and opened a door to another world.

What is the main difference in the storytelling?

- ☒ A. The first story uses real historical events, while the second story uses magic and imagination.
- B. Both stories describe real history.
- C. Both stories are about war.
- D. The first story has more characters than the second.

Read this short passage:

Plastic bags harm the environment. We should stop using them and choose reusable bags instead.

What is the author's purpose?

- A. To entertain the reader with a funny story.
- B. To inform the reader about the history of plastic bags.
- ☒ C. To persuade the reader to stop using plastic bags.
- D. To describe how to make a plastic bag.